Contract Not Awarded for Summer Concerts in Purks.

In spite of the protest of Councilmen Blake and Brown that $1,000 be deducted from the amount allotted to Joseph Bryan Park and divided equally between Gamble's Hill and Washington Ward, the subcommittee's recommendation for the apportionment of park funds was last night passed by the Committee on Grounds and Buildings as it was presented.

Through some misunderstanding there was only one bidder to furnish music in the parks, and that question went over to a meeting which will be held next Thursday night.

Raleigh, N. C., March 30 .- The fifth day of the whirlwind campaign for Y. M. C. A. building fund brings the amount pledged up to $36,269, with less than $9,000 to be raised during the two days remaining of the period allotted for the canvass.

It is probable that there will be a pressing canvass on to at least $75,000 so as to install all the more treditable Y. M. C. A. plant. This is in addition to pitching in next week to raise $7,500 that Raleigh is under obligation to raise toward the A. and M. College Y. M. C. A. building.

Secretary Clarence H. Poe, of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association, has announced that the executive committee has obtained from Dr. C. Aalphonso Smoth, of the Universi-ty of Virginia, and recently Roosevelt professor at the University of Berlin, a promise to deliver an address in connection with the next annual meet-ing of the association to be held in October in this city. The committee are also urging Governor Woodrow Wilson and Dr. Henry VanDyke to address the association at that time, the membership including several hundred of the leaders in literary and histor-leal effort in every part of the State. Josephus Daniel has been invited by the committee to present a paper on "The Influence of Nathaniel Macon on North Carolina History." The person-nel of the executive committee has recently been changed by the resigna-according to statements made in the United States, that is not the case. In this city there are few that do not hope the government and the rebeis are about to come to terms, but there are many who believe the day of peace is still far off. It is pointed out that the very fact that the government has shown a disposition to concede certain things, for which the rebeis are fighting has been an encouragement to them to continue the campaign.

DEMOCRATS SEEK LEADER

Senator Martin, of Virginia May Be Caucus Charman.

Washington, March 29.—The question of finding suitable leadership timber out of which to hew a chairman for their caucus is already beginning to divide the Democratic members of the Senate into opposing camps. There is no one in sight who by experience of temperament is fitted for the difficult task. Even if one is found there is sure to be opposition. The Northern and Western Senators believe that the chairmanship of the caucus should go to a Northern or Western man to strengthen the party in those regions. The Southern members insist that the honor shall go to a Southern Senator. Among the Northern men mentioned is Senator Shively, of Indiana, whose comparatively short experience in the upper House is against him. Among the Southerners discussed, is Senator Culberson, who has the experience, but not the temperament or inclination to preside over the rather discordant minority. Senator Baicy, who antagonized the progressive element by his resignation—which was hastily reconsidered and withdrawn—is practically out of the race.

A third name mentioned is that of Senator Martin, of Virginia. Unless there is a marked change of sentiment before the caucus meets, Senator Martin has much the best chance of being chosen. He combines tact with firmness, and has had the necessary experience. Although conservative he has antagonized neither the conservative nor the radical element, and is in a position to exercise the harmonizing side. In any event, it is expected that Senator Martin will take a prominent part in Democratic affairs in the next Congress.

At most the caucus chairmanship is not likely to carry with it any degree

At most the caucus chairmanship is not likely to carry with it any degree of leadership. Many members on the Democratic side, believing it futile to attempt to select any one on whom the various elements will unite, are of the opinion that the minority will do better without leadership, each member moving independently.—New York Tribune.
